PART 1 — WELCOME TO 1692

What the app is, what we are trying to do, and how it works.

1.1 WHAT THIS APP IS

Qabalah 1692 is a discovery into the history of 1692. You hold a question about the Salem Witch Trials — a person, a household, a courtroom, a fear, a confession — and the cards walk you back into Salem Village to look at it. The Qabalah is your guide, and the art places you inside the village in the year of the hysteria.

It is a tarot deck of 78 cards, and every card has been given a place in 1692. The Fool is The Wayfarer; the Prince of Swords is The Vacated Bench. Fifty-two of the cards name someone or something from the record of 1692 — a person such as Rebecca Nurse or Giles Corey, a family, a homestead, or the 1711 exoneration — with dates where the record gives them. All 78 tell you what they stand for in the village.

The tones, the seats and the decks are different ways of looking at the same year. In the app's own words: “The reading explores the Trials; it does not tell your fortune.”

Your host is KATRINA, the card on the home screen. She deals; she is not one of the 78, and she never appears in a reading.

The welcome you see when the app first opens, and the home screen with KATRINA, the host.

1.2 WHAT WE ARE TRYING TO DO

We want you to step into 1692, not to be told your future. Ask your questions about the Salem Witch Trials, imagine them, and then immerse yourself in the year: see the pictures, hear the words, and look at the same events from different sides.

- See it. Every card is a painting of a 1692 scene, and the pictures move — they float, breathe and catch the light (you can also have them perfectly still).
- Hear it. Every card, every face of every card, and every seat of the Salem Nine has been recorded — 2,159 narration clips, 11.56 hours in all. The narration is the Author's own voice, AI-simulated.
- Point, don't pronounce. The cards point at the history; they do not pronounce on your life. The names in this deck belong to real people, and to their living descendants.
- Keep it yours. Everything happens on your phone. The app has no internet permission and sends nothing to us.

1.3 HOW IT WORKS, IN ONE MINUTE

- 1 Open the app. The first time, read the welcome and tap I AGREE to accept the licence. After that the welcome is read to you and fades on its own.
- 2 Tap DO A READING and choose one card, three, or the Salem Nine.
- 3 Read the spread's own description and tap I UNDERSTAND.
- 4 Hold your question about 1692. You may type it, or simply keep it in mind. Tap THE DECK IS READY.
- 5 Choose a tone — how much shadow you want to face — and tap TAKE THE DECK.
- 6 Work the deck with MIX, SHUFFLE, CUT, CUT-INVERT or INVERT, as much or as little as you like. Then tap DEAL.
- 7 Touch a card to turn it; touch it again to read it. Each card opens to its picture, the person from 1692 it carries, what it says in its seat, and The Union.
- 8 Or just listen. QABALAH HISTORY on the home screen plays the whole deck, card by card, with each passage read aloud.

1.4 WHAT YOU NEED

- An Android phone or tablet running Android 7.0 or newer.
- Room for the download: about 285 MB (every picture and every voice clip is inside the app).
- No internet connection — not to install-and-play, not ever. The app works in airplane mode.
- Sound is optional but recommended: headphones or the phone's speaker for the narration. The voice plays at your phone's media volume.

1.5 YOUR PRIVACY

In the app's own words (About screen):

Everything happens on your device. This app has no internet permission, holds no accounts, and sends nothing to us. To confirm your purchase, it may ask the Google Play Store app on your phone, which checks with Google under Google's own terms and privacy policy. Because some US states require it, the app may also ask the Google Play Store app for your age range and, if a parent supervises your account, whether they approved. The answer stays on your phone, is used for nothing else, and is not kept.

- Your question is never stored. If you type it, it stays on the screen you typed it on and is gone when you leave that screen. Nothing reads it, saves it or sends it.
- The few things the app remembers (section 2.13) stay on your phone. The app turns off Android's cloud backup, so none of it is copied off the phone.
- The privacy policy is the one address the app links to: destructiveaigurus.com/privacy/apps/. Tapping it opens your phone's browser; the app itself never loads it.

1.6 WORDS USED IN THIS MANUAL

WORD	WHAT IT MEANS HERE
Card	One of the 78. Each has a 1692 name (e.g. The Wayfarer) and its formal tarot name beneath it (The Fool).
Upright / reversed	Which way up a card lies. Every card has two faces, each with its own keyword, its own reading and its own Union.
Keyword	One or two words for the face you are looking at — Innocence upright, Innocence Used reversed.
Spread	How many cards are dealt, and where they lie: one, three, or nine.
Seat	A place in a spread, with its own name and meaning — for example The Stand.
The Stand	The centre seat of the Salem Nine and of the Centre Pillar: “where you are now”, the pivot the reading turns on.
Tone	Your choice of how many cards come up reversed — from Harmony (none) to Darkness (all).
The Card (panel)	The card's own reading of the face you are looking at.
In this seat (panel)	What the card says in the seat it was dealt to.
The Union (panel)	The card read through the Qabalah — its Hebrew letter and its place on the Tree of Life — joined to its figure from 1692. The longest passages in the deck.
Figure	Who or what from 1692 a card carries — usually a person, sometimes a family, a house or an event — with dates where the record gives them. Every card also states its role in the events; 26 cards carry a role only.
Stream	A Qabalah History playlist: the app shows one card after another and reads each passage aloud.

PART 2 — THE FEATURES

Everything the app does, explained in plain language. Part 3 shows every control in detail.

2.1 A READING, AND THE THREE SPREADS

A reading is a short ceremony with a fixed order, so that you know what kind of instrument this is before you decide what to ask it:

DO A READING → choose a spread → its disclosure → your question → the tone → the deck in your hands → DEAL → the table.

SPREAD	CARDS	WHAT IT IS
A Single Card	1	“One card, drawn to your question.” One seat, The Card: “What speaks to your question now.”
The Centre Pillar	3	“What became of it · where you stand · where it lands.” Three seats in a row: What Became of It, The Stand, Where the World Lands.
The Salem Nine	9	A 3×3 of time × lens; the centre is where you stand. The app's deepest spread: every card has its own written reading for every one of the nine seats (1,404 in all).

The single card and the Centre Pillar have no seat-by-seat text. In those spreads the IN THIS SEAT panel shows the card's own reading — the same text you see when you open the card from the deck.

2.2 THE SALEM NINE

Nine cards, nine views of 1692. The rows are time — future at the top, present in the middle, past at the bottom. The columns are lens — emotional on the left, synthesis in the centre, factual on the right. The centre seat, present × synthesis, is The Stand: “YOU, here, now, where the felt and the factual meet — the pivot the reading turns on.”

	EMOTIONAL (LEFT)	SYNTHESIS (CENTRE)	FACTUAL (RIGHT)
Future	The Dream — what your spirit senses coming; the future as it is felt, feared, or hoped	The Horizon — where it all leads when heart and fact meet; the future taken whole	The Outcome — what the plain facts are moving toward; the future as it will actually fall
Present	The Heart — what you feel at the core of this, right now	The Stand — YOU, here, now, where the felt and the factual meet	The Ground — the plain facts of your situation as they stand
Past	The Root — the feeling this grew from; the intuitive origin	The Seed — how it truly began, feeling and fact together setting this in motion	The Record — what actually happened; the plain facts of how this came to be

The spread says of itself, before every reading: “This spread has no seat for Mercy, and that is deliberate. It is a diagnosis, not a fortune. It locates the break — where the vise closes, and where you stand inside it.” And: “Repair is yours, and it comes after the reading.”

2.3 THE TONE — HOW MUCH SHADOW

Before you work the deck, the app asks: “Before you turn them — how much shadow do you want to face?” The tone decides how many of your dealt cards lie reversed.

tone	its own description	what it does to your cards
Harmony	every card upright — the reading is asked to keep its light	All upright.
Hope	two in three upright — shadow present, but outnumbered	Two in three upright.
Reality (default)	an honest coin for each card — it falls where it falls	Nothing is changed: each card lies exactly as your deck dealt it.
Disturbing	two in three reversed — the shadow has the floor	Two in three reversed.
Darkness	every card reversed — the reading is asked for its worst	All reversed.

The tone turns over as few dealt cards as it needs to; which ones it turns is left to chance. The cards themselves — and which seat each lands in — are always the ones your deck dealt. On a single card, Hope and Disturbing work out on average: the card is upright two times in three (Hope) or one time in three (Disturbing). The split for your reading (for example Reality — 4 up, 5 rev) is shown only once every card has been turned, so it never gives the reading away early.

2.4 WORKING THE DECK WITH YOUR OWN HANDS

When you take the deck, it is yours: 78 cards that have been used before, so they arrive already mixed and some of them turned about. The screen tells you how many lie reversed — you cannot see it from the backs. Then you work it, as much or as little as you like. What you did to the deck is what you are dealt.

move	its own description	what it does
Mix	Every card loose on the table, turned about under both hands.	New order, and each card may be turned either way.
Shuffle	Split it and let the two halves fall together. Nothing turns.	A riffle: the order changes, every card keeps its way up.
Cut	Divide it wherever your hand stops, and set the halves back the other way.	You drag to choose where; the two halves swap.
Cut-Invert	The same cut, but the half you lift is turned end for end first.	As Cut, and every card in the lifted half changes its way up.
Invert	The whole deck turned end for end. Every card the other way up.	Every upright card becomes reversed and every reversed card upright.

Each move plays out on the screen with all 78 cards. When it settles, the app tells you how many now lie reversed, and offers DONE (back to the deck) or AGAIN (do the same move once more). The deck screen lists every move you have made, in order. DEAL takes the cards from the top of your deck, one per seat, in the spread's order.

Tip. Dealing does not use up the deck. If you go back from the table and press DEAL again without working the deck, you are dealt the same cards. Work it first — even one SHUFFLE — for a fresh reading.

2.5 TURNING THE CARDS, AND READING THEM

The cards land on the table face down, in the spread's own shape, each above the name of its seat. The same one gesture takes you all the way in:

- Touch a card — it turns over, and comes to life. The panel below names the seat, its meaning, and the card: name · keyword · upright or reversed.
- Touch it again — it opens: the picture, the card's names, the person from 1692, then IN THIS SEAT and THE UNION.
- Touch the picture — it fills the screen (section 2.7).

You can turn the cards in any order. Cards you have turned stay turned when you come back to the table. ANOTHER READING ends this reading and returns you to the home screen.

2.6 LOOKING AT THE OTHER FACE

An opened card has a button to show its other face — SHOW IT REVERSED or SHOW IT UPRIGHT. The picture, keyword and every passage turn over together, and (with the voice on) the new face is read aloud.

In a reading this is only a peek. The button becomes BACK TO UPRIGHT (or BACK TO REVERSED), and a line says what was really dealt — for example “You are looking at the reversed face. This card was dealt upright.” The peek never changes your reading, and it is put back when you leave the card.

2.7 THE CARD, FILLING THE SCREEN

Touch any opened card's picture and it fills the screen, with nothing else on it.

- Drag across it to turn it like a panel in a room — tilt it, see it from an angle. Let go and it keeps floating.
- Tap to go back (or use the phone's Back gesture). There is no pinch-zoom.
- Turn the phone sideways and, with Graphics on Float or Spectrum, the picture and its frame stretch to fill the whole screen.

2.8 QABALAH HISTORY — THE WHOLE DECK, READ ALOUD

QABALAH HISTORY on the home screen is a ride through everything the deck says: one card fills the screen with its effects running, its passage is read aloud, and when the voice finishes the next card comes up. Choose a stream:

STREAM	ENTRIES	WHAT IT PLAYS
Everything	1,716	The Unions, then the Card Readings, then the Salem Nine — the Fool onward.
The Unions	156	Each card's own interpretation. The longest readings in the deck.
The Card Readings	156	Each card upright, then reversed, on its own.
The Salem Nine	1,404	Every card read in each of the nine seats, the centre first.

- Swipe left for the next card, right for the one before.
- Tap to show PAUSE and STOP for a few seconds. PAUSE holds the voice mid-sentence and becomes CONTINUE. STOP returns you to the stream list.
- Scroll down to read the passage being spoken, below the card.

- It goes on. At the end of a stream it starts again from the Fool.
- It remembers your place. Come back to a stream you left partway and the app asks “You were at ... of ...” — RESTART or CONTINUE.
- The screen stays awake while a stream plays. If your Audio setting is Off, starting a stream turns it to All, because a stream is narration.

2.9 VIEW THE DECK CARDS, AND ROLL THE DECK

VIEW THE DECK CARDS shows all 78 cards face up, outside any reading — no spread, no seats, no tone. Tap a card to open it: you see its own reading (THE CARD) and THE UNION, for either face. SHOW THEM REVERSED turns the whole deck over at once.

ROLL THE DECK picks a card at random, either way up, and reads its Union — then another, through all 78 with no repeats, then shuffles and goes again. It plays on the same screen as a stream, and STOP brings you back to the deck.

2.10 TWO DECKS, ONE SET OF WORDS

This version carries two painted decks. The words are the same in every deck — only the pictures change.

- The Union Tableau (the default): “A recognizable 1692 scene — the gallows at Proctor's Ledge, the meetinghouse petition — with the Qabalah emblem woven into it, and the person as allegory.”
- The Qabalah: “Both poles at full force, in combat” — the deck's most intense pictures, deliberately dense and raw (its full description is on the Choose a Deck screen).

Pick a deck from CHOOSE A DECK on the home screen. Its name then shows under the title on every screen, and every picture — the table, the deck cards, Qabalah History — comes from it.

2.11 THE VOICE — WHAT IS SPOKEN, AND WHEN

The AUDIO control on the home screen chooses what the voice says. Tap it to step to the next setting.

SETTING	ITS OWN DESCRIPTION	WHAT YOU HEAR
All (default)	Says everything — the cards are read aloud in full.	Turning a card: its name and keyword. Opening a card: name, keyword, its person and role from 1692, its text in the seat, and The Union.
Reading	Says only the reading, in its seat.	Only the seat text (the card's own reading in the library and the single/three-card spreads).
Qabalah	Says only The Union.	Only The Union.
Off	Off — read them yourself.	Nothing.

- The welcome statement is spoken once per launch, at the start, in every setting except Off.
- The voice follows your hand: turning another card, opening another, or leaving a screen stops what is being said. Changing the setting stops it too.
- Qabalah History plays its own passages whatever the setting (and turns Off into All).

2.12 GRAPHICS — HOW THE PICTURES MOVE

The GRAPHICS control on the home screen chooses how the cards are shown. Tap it to step to the next setting.

SETTING	ITS OWN DESCRIPTION	WHAT YOU SEE
Straight	The painting, as painted.	Still pictures. Opened cards show the lettered card, with its names, keywords and Hebrew letters on the frame.
Float (default)	The painting, given depth.	The painting moves gently inside its frame, as if it had depth. The card's name and keyword are written on the frame.
Spectrum	Float, and each colour lights itself.	As Float, and the colours of the painting light up in turn. Only pictures big enough to show it get it; on the deck grid most cards simply float.

The same card under each Graphics setting: Straight (left), Float (centre), Spectrum (right).

2.13 WHAT THE APP REMEMBERS

All of it is kept on your phone only. Removing the app removes it.

REMEMBERED BETWEEN LAUNCHES	FORGOTTEN WHEN THE APP CLOSES
That you agreed to the licence (it asks again if the licence changes)	Your question (it is never kept, even while the app is open)
Your Audio setting	Your readings and your worked deck
Your Graphics setting	Which deck you chose (it returns to The Union Tableau)
Where you were in each Qabalah History stream	Which tone you chose (it returns to Reality)

PART 3 — EVERY SCREEN AND CONTROL

A complete walk through the app, screen by screen. Numbered pink markers on each picture match the numbered rows beside it.

3.1 FIRST LAUNCH: THE WELCOME AND THE LICENCE

The very first time you open the app — and again whenever the licence changes — the welcome screen asks you to accept the licence before anything else. Nothing goes on until you tap I AGREE.

The first-launch welcome.

1	The welcome	"Welcome to Qabalah 1692. This is an immersion to going back to 1692 and seeing the images and hearing the issues that drove the Salem Witch Trials - This is for entertainment purposes only - you have the ability to do readings but this is all about Salem 1692 - You go beyond that - that is for you. You will not be warned again!" It is also read aloud.
2	The voice line	"Narration is the Author's own voice, AI-simulated."
3	licence	Opens the full licence agreement (section 3.2). Leaving it brings you back here.
4	I agree	Accepts the licence and opens the app. The only way past this screen. A tap in the first moment, before the words are on screen, is not taken as agreement.

The phone's Back gesture here leaves the app as it would from the home screen (two presses — section 3.7). Nothing is recorded, so the next launch asks again.

3.2 THE LICENCE AGREEMENT

The licence agreement, opened from the welcome.

1	Title	Qabalah 1692 , with the name of the deck you are using beneath it. It heads most screens.
2	< Back	Leaves the agreement. Opened from the welcome, it returns to the welcome; opened from About, it returns to About.
3	The agreement	The Mobile Application End User License Agreement, word for word. Scroll to read it all.

3.3 EVERY LATER LAUNCH

An ordinary launch: the welcome, read aloud, then home.

Once you have agreed, each launch opens on the same welcome, without the licence question. It stays while the statement is read aloud, then gives way to the home screen. Tap it to skip.

The statement is also written at the foot of the home screen and of every step of a reading, and it is kept in About.

3.4 HOME

Home is where every path starts and ends. It has three doors, two settings and the way to About.

Home — the top of the screen.

Home, scrolled down.

1	Title	Qabalah 1692 , and under it the deck you are using (here, The Union Tableau).
2	KATRINA	Your host, the card that deals. She moves when Graphics is Float or Spectrum. She is not one of the 78 and is never dealt.
3	Do a Reading	“Ask into 1692 — one card, three, or the Salem Nine.” Starts a reading (section 3.15).
4	Qabalah History	“See it and hear it — every reading and every Union, read aloud. Pause and continue whenever you like.” Opens the streams (section 3.13).
5	Choose a Deck	Shows the deck in use; opens the deck chooser (section 3.9).
6	View the Deck Cards	“All 78, face up.” Opens the deck cards (section 3.10).
7	Audio	What the voice says. Tap to step through All → Reading → Qabalah → Off (section 3.5).
8	Graphics	How the pictures move. Tap to step through Float → Spectrum → Straight (section 3.6).
9	The welcome statement	Always written here, for reference.
10	About this app	The standing statements, the licence, the privacy policy, the credits (section 3.8).

The two settings share a row because they are not destinations: they change what the doors above do. A setting with a lit gold border is on; Audio Off and Graphics Straight show an unlit border.

3.5 THE AUDIO CONTROL

The tile names the current setting in gold capitals and says in its own line what that setting does. Each tap moves to the next setting and silences whatever was being said.

The four Audio settings, in the order a tap steps through them: All, Reading (top); Qabalah, Off (bottom).

TILE READS	LINE ON THE TILE	NEXT TAP GIVES
ALL	Says everything — the cards are read aloud in full.	READING
READING	Says only the reading, in its seat.	QABALAH
QABALAH	Says only The Union.	OFF
OFF	Off — read them yourself.	ALL

3.6 THE GRAPHICS CONTROL

The three Graphics settings, in the order a tap steps through them: Float, Spectrum, Straight.

TILE READS	LINE ON THE TILE	NEXT TAP GIVES
FLOAT	The painting, given depth.	SPECTRUM
SPECTRUM	Float, and each colour lights itself.	STRAIGHT

The change applies at once to whatever is on screen, including the KATRINA card. See the comparison in section 2.12.

3.7 LEAVING THE APP

No screen inside the app can drop you out of it by accident. The phone's Back gesture always takes you one step back inside the app (section 3.24) until you reach home.

On the home screen, the first Back shows the message “Press back again to leave Qabalah 1692”. A second Back within two seconds closes the app.

The message after the first Back on home.

3.8 ABOUT THIS APP

About gathers the app's standing statements in one place you can reach without starting a reading.

About — the top.

1	◀ Back	Returns home.
2	About this app	“A discovery into the history of 1692. Ask a question about the Salem Witch Trials, then go back — the Qabalah as your guide, the art placing you inside Salem Village in the year of the hysteria.”
3	The views	“The tones, the seats and the decks are different ways of looking at the same year. The reading explores the Trials; it does not tell your fortune.”
4	Privacy	What happens on your device and what the Google Play Store app may be asked (quoted in full in section 1.5).

About, scrolled down.

5	Licence agreement	Opens the agreement (section 3.2); Back returns here.
6	Privacy policy	destructiveaigurus.com/privacy/apps/ “(opens in your browser)”. The only link in the app.
7	The welcome statement	As on the welcome screen.
8	The names	“The names and the 1692 record this deck draws on belong to real people, and to their living descendants. Nothing here claims those trials were divinely or metaphysically caused. They were done by people, to people.”
9	AI Generation	“Narration in this app is the Author’s own voice, AI-simulated — produced with permission from the Author’s own recordings.” “The illustrated artwork in this app is AI-generated.”

Further down, About names the typefaces (Cinzel and Frank Ruhl Libre, under the SIL Open Font Licence, whose text travels inside the app), the edition of the deck’s content (“Deck bundle: generation 25 — built 2026-09-29 22:55:37” in this version), and a Licences and provenance list: what made the artwork, the written text, the narration, the historical record, the typefaces and the software, ending with “This app contains no third-party runtime code — no frameworks, no analytics, no advertising, no crash reporting and no network client. It has no internet permission.”

About, further down: the credits and the Licences and provenance list.

3.9 CHOOSE A DECK

Choose a deck.

1	Back	Returns home, keeping the deck you had.
2	Choose a deck	The screen's heading.
3	The Qabalah	The deck's back, its name and its full description. Tap to use it.
4	The Union Tableau	The default deck. The deck in use has a gold border. Tap to use it.

Tapping a deck returns you home with that deck in use: its name shows under the title and on the Choose a Deck door, and every picture in the app comes from it until you close the app.

With The Qabalah chosen: home names it, and the deck cards show its pictures.

3.10 VIEW THE DECK CARDS

The deck cards — all 78, face up.

The whole deck turned over with “Show them reversed”.

1	Back	Returns home.
2	Deck name	Which deck's pictures you are looking at.
3	Show them reversed	Turns all 78 over. It then reads SHOW THEM UPRIGHT.
4	The face line	“All 78, upright.” — or, turned over, “All 78, reversed. Open one and it stays this way up.”
5	Roll the deck	Starts the roll (section 2.9).
6	The roll line	“A card at random, its Union spoken — all 78, no repeats, then shuffled again.”
7	A card	Each tile shows the card and its 1692 name. Tap to open it (section 3.11). Scroll for all 78, from The Wayfarer (the Fool) onward.

3.11 A CARD FROM THE DECK

The Wayfarer, opened from the deck cards.

1	◀ The deck	Returns to the 78, upright.
2	The card	The picture, at the largest size the screen allows. Touch it to fill the screen (section 3.12).
3	Name on the card	The 1692 name, with the formal name beneath (Float and Spectrum).
4	Keyword on the card	The keyword of the face shown.

The same card, scrolled down.

1	1692 name	The Wayfarer
2	Formal name	The Fool
3	Keyword · face	“Innocence · upright”
4	Show it reversed	Turns this card over: picture, keyword and text. It then reads SHOW IT UPRIGHT . The new face is read aloud.
5	Figure · dates	Who or what from 1692 the card carries — “Betty Parris · 1682–1760”. Dates appear where the record gives them; some cards carry a role only.
6	Role	Their part in 1692 — “Age 9, the first afflicted — innocence at the threshold of the abyss”.
7	The Card	The card’s own reading of this face.
8	The Union	The card read through the Qabalah, joined to its figure.

The welcome statement closes the page. With the voice on, opening a card reads it aloud according to your Audio setting.

The same card after “Show it reversed”: the painting turns, the lettering stays readable, and the keyword and texts change.

3.12 THE CARD, FILLING THE SCREEN

Touch the picture on any opened card. The card fills the screen with nothing else on it. A faint line at the foot says “Tap to go back · drag to turn it” and fades away.

Full screen (left) and turned by a drag (right). This is the reversed face, showing the lettered card.

GESTURE	WHAT IT DOES
Drag	Turns the card in three dimensions — tilt it left, right, up, down. It keeps floating when you let go.
Tap	Returns to the card's page.
Phone's Back	Also returns to the card's page.
Turn the phone sideways	With Graphics on Float or Spectrum, the picture and its frame stretch to fill the screen.

Sideways: the full-screen card stretched to the screen (Float).

3.13 QABALAH HISTORY

Qabalah History — the four streams.

1	◀ Back	Returns home.
2	Qabalah History	The screen's heading.
3	Everything	“The Unions, then the Card Readings, then the Salem Nine — the Fool onward.”
4	The Unions	“Each card’s own interpretation. The longest readings in the deck.”
5	The Card Readings	“Each card upright, then reversed, on its own.”
6	The Salem Nine	“Every card read in each of the nine seats, the centre first.”
7	The count	How many entries the stream holds (1,716 · 156 · 156 · 1,404).

Tap a stream to start it. The welcome statement closes the page.

Returning to a stream you left partway.

1	Your place	The stream you left asks where to begin: "You were at 2 of 1404."
2	Restart	From the first entry.
3	Continue	From the start of the entry you were on.

A stream you have not started, or left at its first entry, simply starts. Your place in each stream is kept separately, even after the app is closed.

3.14 A STREAM PLAYING

The card fills the screen with its effects running while its passage is read. When the voice ends, the next card comes up. The same screen plays ROLL THE DECK.

A stream playing, with its controls shown.

1	What you are hearing	The card's 1692 name · its face · the passage: The Union, the reading, or a Salem Nine seat (e.g. "present × core").
2	The card	Full screen, effects running. Swipe left for the next card, right for the one before.
3	Card name	The formal name, written on the card's foot.
4	Pause	Holds the voice exactly where it is; reads CONTINUE while held. Tap it again to carry on mid-sentence.
5	Stop	Ends the stream and returns to the stream list (from Roll the deck: to the deck cards).

Tap anywhere to show Pause and Stop; they fade after a few seconds, and stay while paused. A stray touch never stops a stream — only the Stop button does. As each card appears, a faint line at the foot says "Tap for the controls · swipe to move through the cards", then fades.

Scroll down while a card plays to read its text.

1	1692 name	The Unsigned Warrant
2	Formal name	4 of Swords
3	Keyword · face	"Sentence Signed · reversed"
4	Figure	"Dudley Bradstreet"
5	Role	"the magistrate who stopped signing warrants and fled"
6	The Card	The card's own reading.
7	The Union	The passage being read, for a Union entry.
8	Controls	Stay in place while you scroll.

For a Salem Nine entry, an extra panel comes first: IN THIS SEAT — THE STAND (or the seat's own name), holding the words being spoken.

The Salem Nine stream: The Wayfarer in the centre seat, and the text below with its “In this seat — The Stand” panel.

3.15 CHOOSE YOUR SPREAD

Choose your spread.

1	◀ Back	Returns home.
2	1 • A Single Card	“One card, drawn to your question.”
3	3 • The Centre Pillar	“What became of it • where you stand • where it lands.”
4	9 • The Salem Nine	“A 3×3 of time (future/present/past) × lens (emotional/synthesis/factual); the centre, present×synthesis, is where you stand.”
5	The welcome statement	On every step of a reading.

Choosing a spread also gives you a fresh deck for this reading.

3.16 THE DISCLOSURE

Every spread describes itself before any reading — what it is and what it is not. You cannot deal without passing this screen.

The Salem Nine’s disclosure.

Its buttons, at the foot.

1	Spread name	The Salem Nine
2	How it is read	The spread's own account of its shape: the nine seats, the three times and three lenses, and The Stand.
3	What it is	“Nine cards — nine views of 1692 ... They point; they do not pronounce.”
4	No Mercy seat	“This spread has no seat for Mercy, and that is deliberate.”
5	A diagnosis	“It is a diagnosis, not a fortune ...”
6	Repair	“Repair is yours, and it comes after the reading.”
7	The names	The statement about real people and their living descendants (as in About).
8	Back	Returns home.
9	I understand	Goes on to your question.

The single card and the Centre Pillar have their own, shorter disclosures — section 3.23.

3.17 ASK INTO 1692

Ask into 1692.

A question typed in — it is never saved, and is gone when you leave the screen.

1	Ask into 1692	The screen's heading.
2	The invitation	“Hold a question about the Salem Witch Trials — a person, a household, a courtroom, a fear, a confession. Imagine it, and the cards will walk you back into the village to look at it.” “You do not have to type it. Hold it steady and clear enough that you would recognise its shape when the cards turn.”
3	optional	A box to type your question, if you wish.
4	Your privacy	“For your eyes only. Whatever you type stays on this device — this app has no internet permission and sends nothing to us.”
5	Back	Returns to the disclosure.
6	The deck is ready	Goes on to the tone.

3.18 THE TONE

The tone, with Reality chosen.

- | | | |
|---|-----------------------|---|
| 1 | The question | “Before you turn them — how much shadow do you want to face?” |
| 2 | The five tones | HARMONY, HOPE, REALITY, DISTURBING, DARKNESS. The chosen one is gold. Tap to choose. |
| 3 | Its line | What the chosen tone does, in its own words. |
| 4 | Take the deck | Goes on to the deck. |

There is no Back button on this screen; the phone’s Back gesture returns to your question. The tone you choose stays chosen for the next reading, until the app is closed.

Each tone and its line: Harmony, Hope, Reality, Disturbing, Darkness.

3.19 THE DECK IS IN YOUR HANDS

The deck, as it came to you.

After five moves: the count of reversed cards, and the moves listed in order — “Mix · Shuffle · Cut · Cut-Invert · Invert”.

1	Heading	“The deck is in your hands”. The title above is slimmer from here on, to leave room for the cards.
2	The state of the deck	“78 cards”; how many lie reversed (“41 of them lie reversed.”); and what you have done to it — “Untouched, as it came to you.” until your first move.
3	Mix	Each move opens its own stage — section 3.20.
4	Shuffle
5	Cut
6	Cut-Invert
7	Invert
8	Back	Returns to the tone.
9	Deal	Lays the spread from the top of your deck (section 3.21).
10	The welcome statement

3.20 THE FIVE MOVES, ONE BY ONE

Each move has its own stage: the move's name and line at the top, the 78 cards in the middle, and a status line with two buttons at the foot when it settles.

A move, settled.

1	Status	How many cards now lie reversed — “37 of 78 now lie reversed.”
2	Done	Returns to the deck screen.
3	Again	Performs the same move once more.

Mix: every card loose on the table (left), gathered again (right).

Shuffle: split in two, falling together, settled. The count does not change — nothing turns.

Cut and Cut-Invert ask you where. The deck spreads across the screen, with one card raised at the middle and the line at the foot reading “Cut after 39 cards — 39 beneath.” Drag across the spread to move the raised card — the line counts as you go (“Cut after 36 cards — 42 beneath.”) — and lift your finger to cut there.

Cut: choosing where.

1	The move	CUT — “Divide it wherever your hand stops, and set the halves back the other way.”
2	The spread deck	Drag across it; the raised card marks where the cut will fall.
3	The count	Where the cut is, as you drag.

Cut, after lifting the finger: the halves part (left) and come back together the other way (right).

Cut-Invert: choosing the cut, the lifted half turned end for end, settled with a new count.

Invert: the whole deck turned end for end — 41 reversed became 37.

3.21 THE TABLE

After DEAL, the cards lie face down in the spread's own shape — here the Salem Nine's 3×3 — with the panel below telling you what to do and what you just turned.

The Salem Nine, just dealt.

1	A card	Face down. Touch to turn it.
2	Seat name	Where it lies — The Dream.
3	The Stand	The centre seat, outlined and named in brighter type.
4	Instruction	“Touch a card to turn it.”
5	How to read it	The spread's axes: “TIME — future (top), present (middle), past (bottom)” · “LENS — emotional, synthesis, factual”.
6	Tone	The tone you chose. Its split is added once every card is turned.
7	Progress	“0 of 9 turned”
8	Another reading	Ends this reading and returns home.
9	The welcome statement

One card turned.

1	The turned card	Face up and alive. Touch it again to open it.
2	Its seat	The Stand
3	The seat's meaning	"YOU, here, now, where the felt and the factual meet — the pivot the reading turns on"
4	The card	1692 name · keyword · face: "The Vacated Bench · Reasoned Dissent · upright"
5	Instruction	"Turning..." while it turns, then "Touch it again to read it."

Every card turned.

1	Last touched	The panel always describes the last card you touched — here The Record.
2	Its meaning	"what actually happened; the plain facts of how this came to be"
3	The card	"The Meetinghouse · Poisoned Vow · reversed"
4	Instruction	"Every card is turned. Touch one to read it."
5	The split	Now shown: "Reality — 4 up, 5 rev"
6	Another reading	Ends this reading and returns home.

3.22 THE CARD IN ITS SEAT

The Stand's card, opened.

Scrolled down.

1	< The Salem Nine	Back to the table (the spread's name).
2	Seat	The Stand
3	Seat's meaning	As on the table.
4	The card	Touch to fill the screen (section 3.12).
5	1692 name	The Vacated Bench
6	Formal name	Prince of Swords
7	Keyword · face	“Reasoned Dissent · upright” — the face that was dealt.
8	Show it reversed	A peek at the other face (below).
9	Figure	“Nathaniel Saltonstall”
10	Role	“the judge who withdrew from the court, out of dissatisfaction with the proceedings”
11	In this seat	What this card says in this seat — written for this card in this seat of the Salem Nine.

The foot of the card's page.

THE PEEK

After “Show it reversed”: a peek, declared.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 12 The Union 13 Back to the table | The card read through the Qabalah, joined to its figure. Returns to the table, with every turned card still turned. |
|---|---|

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 Back to upright 2 The peek line | Returns to the face that was dealt. “You are looking at the reversed face. This card was dealt upright.” |
|---|--|

Everything on the page follows the face you are looking at — the picture, the keyword, In this seat and The Union — and the voice reads the new face. The reading itself does not change, and the peek is dropped when you leave the card.

3.23 THE SINGLE CARD AND THE CENTRE PILLAR

A SINGLE CARD

Its disclosure; the one card on the table; the card opened in its seat, “The Card — What speaks to your question now.”

One card, face down.

1	The card	Touch to turn it; touch again to open it.
2	Instruction	“Touch the card to turn it.”
3	The spread's line	“One card, drawn to your question — a mirror for reflection, not a fortune.”
4	Tone · progress	As on every table, with ANOTHER READING .

Its disclosure: “One card — one view of 1692. Hold your question about the Trials, and the card holds it up to the year: a single window into Salem Village, opened where you asked. It points; it does not pronounce.” Opened, the In this seat panel shows the card’s own reading.

THE CENTRE PILLAR

Three cards in a row.

- | | | |
|---|------------------------------|---|
| 1 | What Became of It | “Where the world landed then. What actually came of it, stripped of the story.” |
| 2 | The Stand | “Where you are now, on the axis, between the two.” The pivot. |
| 3 | Where the World Lands | “The resolution. What actually becomes of it.” |

Its disclosure: “Three cards — your question walked through the year: what became of it, where you stand in it, where it lands. Three views of 1692, side by side. They point; they do not pronounce.”
As with the single card, each opened card shows its own reading.

Its disclosure; all three turned (“Reality — 2 up, 1 rev”); The Stand opened.

3.24 THE BACK GESTURE, SCREEN BY SCREEN

The phone's Back gesture (or button) always moves you one step back inside the app. Only the home screen lets you leave, and only with two presses.

YOU ARE ON	BACK TAKES YOU TO
Home	The message “Press back again to leave Qabalah 1692”; a second Back within two seconds closes the app

3.25 MESSAGES YOU MAY SEE

MESSAGE	WHAT IT MEANS · WHAT TO DO
“Press back again to leave Qabalah 1692”	You pressed Back on the home screen. Press it again within two seconds to leave, or do nothing to stay.
“The deck could not be loaded. Please reinstall the app.”	The app's content did not load. Reinstall the app from Google Play.
“The licence text could not be loaded.”	Shown in place of the agreement if its text is missing. Reinstall the app.
“The content key could not be derived”	The app could not open its own content on this phone. Reinstall the app from Google Play.
“Qabalah History — Needs the spoken deck — no voice in this one yet.”	Only in a version without narration; this version has it.

PART 4 — STEP-BY-STEP DEMOS

Short walk-throughs of the things people do most.

4.1 YOUR FIRST LAUNCH

- 1 Open Qabalah 1692. The welcome appears and is read aloud.
- 2 Tap LICENCE if you want to read the agreement; tap BACK to return.
- 3 Tap I AGREE. The home screen opens, with KATRINA.
- 4 Scroll down and set AUDIO and GRAPHICS the way you like (section 4.8). The app remembers both.

4.2 A SALEM NINE READING, START TO FINISH

- 1 On home, tap DO A READING, then 9 · THE SALEM NINE.
- 2 Read the disclosure — the spread's own account of what it is, and why it has no seat for Mercy — and tap I UNDERSTAND.
- 3 Hold your question about 1692. For example: What did the village fear most in 1692? Type it if you like; it is never kept. Tap THE DECK IS READY.
- 4 Choose a tone. REALITY leaves every card as your deck deals it. Tap TAKE THE DECK.
- 5 Work the deck: tap MIX, watch it, tap DONE. Try CUT — drag across the spread and lift your finger where you want the cut — then DONE. The deck screen lists what you have done.
- 6 Tap DEAL. Nine cards lie face down.
- 7 Touch The Stand, the centre card, first. It turns; the panel names the card.
- 8 Turn the other eight in any order. When all nine are up, the panel shows the split — for example Reality — 4 up, 5 rev.
- 9 Touch any turned card again to open it. Read its person from 1692, IN THIS SEAT and THE UNION. Touch the picture to see it full screen; tap to come back.
- 10 Tap BACK TO THE TABLE and open the next card. When you are done, tap ANOTHER READING.

4.3 ONE CARD, QUICKLY

- 1 DO A READING → 1 · A SINGLE CARD → I UNDERSTAND.
- 2 THE DECK IS READY → TAKE THE DECK → DEAL. (The deck arrives already mixed, so you can deal straight away.)
- 3 Touch the card to turn it, and again to read it.

4.4 LOOK AT THE OTHER FACE WITHOUT CHANGING THE READING

- 1 Open a card at the table.
- 2 Tap SHOW IT REVERSED (or SHOW IT UPRIGHT). The picture, keyword and texts turn over, and the line under the button tells you how the card was really dealt.

- 3 Tap BACK TO UPRIGHT (or leave the card) to return to the dealt face. The reading is unchanged.

4.5 LISTEN TO THE SALEM NINE STREAM AND COME BACK LATER

- 1 On home, tap QABALAH HISTORY, then THE SALEM NINE.
- 2 Watch and listen. Swipe left to skip a card, right to go back one.
- 3 Tap the screen, then PAUSE to hold the voice; CONTINUE carries on. Scroll down to read the words.
- 4 Tap STOP when you are done — or simply close the app.
- 5 Next time, tap THE SALEM NINE again: it asks “You were at ... of 1404.” Tap CONTINUE.

4.6 BROWSE THE DECK REVERSED, THEN ROLL IT

- 1 On home, tap VIEW THE DECK CARDS.
- 2 Tap SHOW THEM REVERSED. Open any card: it opens reversed, with its reversed texts.
- 3 Tap < THE DECK, then ROLL THE DECK: a card at random, its Union read aloud, then the next. Tap the screen and STOP to return.

4.7 CHANGE DECKS

- 1 On home, tap CHOOSE A DECK.
- 2 Read the two descriptions and tap the deck you want. Home now names it under the title.
- 3 Everything you open now shows that deck's pictures; the words are the same. The app returns to The Union Tableau the next time it starts.

4.8 SET THE VOICE AND THE PICTURES THE WAY YOU LIKE

- 1 On home, scroll to the two tiles under the doors.
- 2 Tap AUDIO until it says what you want: All, Reading (only the seat text), Qabalah (only The Union) or Off.
- 3 Tap GRAPHICS until it says what you want: Float, Spectrum or Straight (still).
- 4 Both are remembered the next time you open the app.

PART 5 — HELP

When something is not as you expect.

5.1 TROUBLESHOOTING

IF...	THEN...
I hear no voice.	Check the AUDIO tile on home is not Off, and turn up your phone's media volume. In Reading and Qabalah, turning a card is silent by design — open it to hear it.
The voice stopped mid-sentence.	The voice follows your hand: turning or opening another card, leaving the screen or changing the Audio setting stops it. Open the card again to hear it from the start.
The app asks me to agree again.	It does that the first time, after a reinstall, and whenever the licence changes.
Back did not close the app.	By design. Go to home and press Back twice within two seconds.
I want the pictures still.	Set GRAPHICS to Straight.
I dealt again and got the same cards.	Dealing does not use up the deck. Work it (MIX , SHUFFLE , a CUT ...) before you deal again.
A picture on the deck grid is blank.	The app asks for it again on its own. If it stays blank, leave the deck cards and come back.
My question was not saved.	By design: it is never stored or sent.
I chose a deck, and the next day it was back to The Union Tableau.	The deck choice lasts until the app is closed. Choose it again from home.
Qabalah History turned my Audio from Off to All.	A stream is narration, so starting one turns the voice on. Set it back on home if you like.

5.2 QUICK REFERENCE CARD

5.3 CREDITS AND NOTICES

- For entertainment. The app's own statement: "This is for entertainment purposes only - you have the ability to do readings but this is all about Salem 1692." The readings explore the Trials; they do not tell your fortune.
- The names. "The names and the 1692 record this deck draws on belong to real people, and to their living descendants. Nothing here claims those trials were divinely or metaphysically caused. They were done by people, to people."
- AI generation. "Narration in this app is the Author's own voice, AI-simulated — produced with permission from the Author's own recordings." "The illustrated artwork in this app is AI-generated."
- Typefaces. The app is set in Cinzel and Frank Ruhl Libre under the SIL Open Font Licence 1.1; the licence text travels inside the app. This manual uses the same two faces.
- Licence and privacy. The licence agreement is inside the app (About → LICENCE AGREEMENT). The privacy policy is at destructiveaigurus.com/privacy/apps/.
- The full list of how the artwork, text, narration and historical record were made is under Licences and provenance on the About screen.
